香港教育大學
The Education University of Hong Kong

Department of Social Sciences Research and Knowledge-Transfer Seminar 2020 - 2021 February Session

Dr. CHU Man Ying Amanda
Assistant Professor

Topic: Interviewer bias in multiple mini-interviews

Abstract:
Dr. Chu's research interests include Data Privacy, Business Ethics, Risk Management, and Applied Statistics. She is going to present a paper on interviewer effects on multiple mini-interviews (MMIs). Due to cultural differences, the bias factors of interviewers may vary between the East and the West. MMI is a relatively new type of assessment setting in Chinese environment and few studies have been conducted to examine its interviewer effects. Her paper attempted to adopt multi-faceted Rasch measurement to measure the interviewer effects in assessment in Hong Kong.

Date: 4 February 2021 (Thur)
Time: 12:30 - 13:30 Language: English
Venue: Through Online Zoom

For further inquiries, please contact Mr. Sean Lee via phone (2948 8604) or email (leesh@eduhk.hk).

Dr. TO Wai Chun Clara
Assistant Professor
Moderator

Dr. Wong Mei Yee May
Assistant Professor

Topic: Curriculum Development and Knowledge Transfer: Experience Drawn from Moral and Values Education Projects

Abstract:
One of Dr. May Wong's research interests focuses on Moral and Values Education Curriculum Development. In the presentation, she will share her experience and reflections of conducting Moral and Values Education Curriculum Development projects in local schools. Two Values Education projects will be used as examples to illustrate how to integrate research and knowledge exchange activities when participating in community service.

Department of Social Sciences
社 會 科 學 系

If you are interested to attend the session, please scan the QR code for registration.