

Research Assistant I (Ref: 2400074)
Department of English Language Education

Project Title:
Multimodal Corpus-Embedded Digital Storytelling
[Appointment Period: 12 months]

The Department of English Language Education seeks a proactive, research-oriented, and highly organised individual to contribute to the construction and analysis of a Multimodal Corpus-Embedded Digital Storytelling. The successful candidate will work closely with the project team to ensure timely completion of project tasks in accordance with the schedule. Responsibilities include collecting short books, converting them into digital storybook, conducting linguistic analysis of English texts, managing day-to-day operations of the project, coordinating data compilation, helping organize a workshop about Multimodal corpus-embedded digital storytelling with school teachers, developing project-related teaching and learning materials, drafting progress reports and research articles, and other ad hoc duties as assigned by the project leader. The appointment will be for a period of 12 months.

Applicants should have a Bachelor's Degree, preferably with a Master's degree in English language or related areas, and familiar with foreign language education and Hong Kong K-12 schools. Applicants should have a high proficiency in both English and Chinese, attentive to fine details, highly self-motivated, and able to work within tight timelines. Strong academic writing skills would be an advantage.
