FACULTY OF HUMANITIES 人文學院

A Second Major or a Minor in the humanities helps broaden and enrich your study in various aspects of human culture, including languages, literatures, cultures, religions and language education. The courses and programmes in the humanities provide you with the knowledge, intellectual skills and habits of thought indispensable to a modern education.

There may be some restrictions on the choices of Second Majors/Minors for some programmes. Please read carefully the requirements of the Second Majors/Minors and consult the offering departments/programmes before you make the choices.

Second Majors/Minors will not lead to a Qualified Teacher Status. Teaching practice or immersion/internship will not be arranged for students of Second Majors/Minors.

The information contained herein may be changed for unforeseeable reasons. Please refer to Registry's website at www.eduhk.hk/re for requirements, application procedures and other details.

The information given in this booklet is accurate as of December 2017. Please refer to FHM's programme website at www.eduhk.hk/fhm_programmes for the latest course information.

All courses carry 3 credit points (CPs) each.

Minors

Students of full-time undergraduate degree programmes (except those with programme/curriculum restriction) have the option of taking a Minor of 15 cps (or two Minors) of taught courses in the Core and Elective Domains for graduation with Minor(s), subject to specific requirements of the Minor(s).

Chinese Language 中國語文

The Minor enables students to explore Chinese language and its cultures through various linguistics, literature and culture courses offered. Those who graduate with Chinese Language as a Minor will be able to demonstrate a basic knowledge about how the Chinese language can be analysed and about how it is used to communicate in social, cultural and/or professional contexts.

Language Teaching

English Language Teaching (Primary/Secondary) 英語教育(小學/中學)

These Minors focus on the teaching of the English language in primary schools (Primary Strand)/secondary schools (Secondary Strand) and the practical issues and strategies involved. They enable students to have an understanding of how English is taught and help learners develop meta-knowledge and meta-cognition of the second language learning processes and strategies, which can be useful to their own English language learning.

These Minors are only offered to undergraduate students in their 3rd year of study or beyond. The exit requirement of these Minors is IELTS 6.5 (with no sub-score lower than 6.0) or equivalent.

Students who have not taken the pre-requisite course yet should submit their applications for exemption to the course lecturer directly by email. After getting the approval, students have to contact their programme office to register the course manually.

Chinese Religions and Culture 中國宗教與文化

This Minor aims to deepen students' understanding of popular religious beliefs and customs in Chinese culture. By studying the major religions in China, their impact on ancient and modern Chinese cultural history, and the cultural collision and religious transformation after the spread of Western religions in China, students will grasp the way religions and culture influence the life of Chinese, and gain a more comprehensive understanding of Chinese traditional culture.

Language and Society 語言與社會

The Minor programme aims to develop students' knowledge in subject areas that examine the use of language in a variety of social contexts. It aims to enhance students' awareness and sensitivity to the social meanings of context-specific language use in Chinese, English, and bilingual interaction. This Minor is only offered to students who are non-English-majors. The knowledge and skills students gained in this Minor programme will equip them with a critical and analytical mind to understand the dynamics of social interaction in monolingual mode and in bilingual setting, from everyday conversations to field-specific discourse between teachers and educators, as well as between professionals in the workplace.

French Studies 法語※

In line with the University's twin goals of internationalisation and developing students' global awareness, the Minor in the French Studies programme is primarily designed to enrich our students' major studies by content learning (i.e. French art, culture, education, and/or history) at the University or during their exchange semester(s) in a French university. The second objective of this Minor programme is to equip our students with a level of French competence equivalent to Level A2 or B1 with regard to the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR).
