

QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODOLOGIES in Education

Workshop Series

Coding and Displaying Qualitative Data

Participants will work with excerpts from written narratives produced by both pre-service and in-service teachers during their postgraduate studies, as well with extracts of interview data based on a series of interviews with one of the participants. The aim of the workshop is to become familiar with a variety of (non-electronic) approaches to coding qualitative data and to displaying data for the purposes of further analysis and reporting.

Dr. Gary Barkhuizen
University of Auckland

Dr. Gary Barkhuizen is an associate professor in the Department of Applied Language Studies and Linguistics, University of Auckland, New Zealand. His teaching and research interests are in the areas of language teacher education, sociolinguistics, and learner language. He has taught English and trained teachers in the US, South Africa and New Zealand, and has published widely in journals such as TESOL Quarterly, System, ELT Journal and International Journal of the Sociology of Language. He is author (with Rod Ellis) of Analysing Learner Language (2005, Oxford University Press).

Date : April 16 2008 (Wednesday)

Time : 13.00-15.00

Venue : D2-G/F 01, Tai Po Campus