Non-means-tested Mainland Experience Scheme for Post-Secondary Students
(Non-means-tested MES)

Background

Non-means-tested Mainland Experience Scheme for Post-Secondary Students (Non-means-tested MES) is established to encourage and support local and non-local students of full-time locally-accredited programmes at sub-degree and undergraduate (including top-up) levels to participate in exchange activities held in the Chinese Mainland.

Eligibility Criteria

- Local and non-local students enrolled in full-time locally-accredited sub-degree and undergraduate (including top-up degree) programmes at the time of application and throughout the duration of the subsidised exchange activity;
- Going to participate in an eligible exchange activity in the academic year 2025-26 as detailed below;
- Selected through a merit-based mechanism administered by EdUHK; and
- Never received any subsidy under Non-means-tested MES during their previous study at programme(s) of the same level as that of their current programme.

Eligible Exchange Activities

Exchange activities:

- must be held in the Chinese Mainland;
- must be organised and/or endorsed by EdUHK;
- last for at least three days if the applicant is an undergraduate student; or last for at least three days and is related to his/her discipline/field of study if the applicant is a sub-degree student; and
- fall into the following categories:
 - Learning activities (comprise substantive learning elements and/or intended learning outcomes)
 - Internship programmes (as well as placements or practicums, (refer to work experiences offered to participants for a limited period of time, remunerated or unremunerated, credit-bearing or non-credit bearing))
 - Service programmes (service-learning activities that integrate experiential learning with community services and reflections)
 - National, regional and international events and competitions (Endorsed/organised by EdUHK to represent EdUHK)

Subsidy for Students

- The maximum amount of subsidy to be granted to an eligible student for participating in an exchange activity under Non-means-tested MES varies according to the duration of the exchange activity as set out below:

(A)
Destination	Subsidy Amount ($)
The Chinese Mainland	900
(B)
Duration (Days)	Subsidy Amount ($)
3-13	1,050
14-28	1,800
29-90	3,000
91-180	7,500
Over 180	13,500

For Student Exchange Programme (SEP) organised by EdUHK, the duration is set at 91-180 days.*

- In general, the duration of an exchange activity should cover the period from the commencement date to the completion date of the official programme of the exchange activity. Travelling time back and forth between Hong Kong and the exchange destination should not be counted towards the duration of the exchange activity.
- For each exchange activity, the maximum amount of subsidy to be granted to the student is calculated by adding up the subsidy under (A) and (B) above.
For example: If a local or non-local student joins an exchange activity in the Mainland for 95 days, the maximum subsidy to be granted under the Non-means-tested MES would be $8,400 (i.e. (a)$900 + (b)$7,500).
- The amount of subsidy granted to an eligible student under Non-means-tested MES should not exceed the direct costs arising from his/her participation in the concerned exchange activity. Students are required to report to the EdUHK on the actual cost of the activities, and return the exceeding amount upon completion of the activities.
- EdUHK may, at its full discretion, adjust the actual amount of subsidy to be granted to the student downwards from that maximum amount, having regard to the actual travelling expenses and participation fees involved in the exchange activities, other subsidy/sponsorship received by the students, etc.
- Students are only eligible for assistance under the Non-means-test MES once throughout his/her study in programmes at the same level of study in Hong Kong.
- A student will NOT be eligible to receive subsidy under the SSE/Means-tested SSEBR/Non-means-tested SSEBR if he/she has been subsidised under any of these Schemes for the same destination. Such restriction does not apply to the Non-means-tested MES.

- Students who have previously received assistance from other scholarships or support schemes wholly or partly funded by the Government are also eligible for assistance under Non-means-tested MES.
- Students receiving assistance under Non-means-tested MES may receive subsidies from other sources (including Government and other organisations) to cover expenses in connection with the same exchange activity.
- Priority should be given to those who have not received any subsidy under scholarship / sponsorship / subsidy schemes wholly or partly funded by the Government.
- Granting of subsidy is subject to the funding available in that particular academic year.

Application Procedure

- Eligible students should complete an online application form together with supporting documents 1) SID copy; 2) Acceptance letter issued from the overseas exchange institution/ Appendix A – Endorsement Form to apply for NMTMES.

- Submit the online Declaration for Exchange Subsidy Claim Form after the programme end date.
